PROFILE

Multidisciplinary interior designer and architectural historian whose work explores how history, design, and material culture shape human experience. I approach each project as both research and creation — translating the language of the past into spaces that resonate in the present. With a foundation in high-end residential design and a master's in architectural history, I bridge concept and construction, bringing cultural depth and visual clarity to every environment I create.

PROFESSIONAL

Production Design Assistant

Netflix, Black Mirror | London, UK / February – May 2024

- Assisted with on set and location art direction.
- Independently staged, designed and produced props.
- Acted as a liaison between production designer, art director and director.
- Sourced furniture from Prop houses and organized transport logistics.

Project Coordinator / Designer

bulthaupt | New York / 2017 – 2020

- Produced AutoCAD floor plans, elevations, and MEP coordination drawings in alignment with local codes and project timelines.
- Interpreted client vision from concept through installation for luxury residential projects exceeding $3 million annually.
- Collaborated with architects, contractors, and engineers to ensure seamless integration of electrical and plumbing systems.
- Managed multi-phase projects and international logistics across factories and vendors in Europe and North America.
- Conducted site surveys, developed finish schedules, and established organizational systems for project tracking.
- Supported brand presence through digital content creation and showroom design.

EARLIER EXPERIENCE

Interior Design Internship – Creative Design Team

InDesign | Barcelona, Spain / Summer 2014

- Supported retail and commercial design teams producing AutoCAD plans and 3D renderings in 3ds Max / V-Ray.
- Operated within bilingual teams, facilitating communication between Spanish- and English-speaking collaborators.
